

I have made this Summary Document of my website due to the hosting issues that the website is currently facing on Github.

You are welcome to check out my Github repository, at:

<https://github.com/marufrahman474/myHTML/tree/master/MyHTML>

Please do see all of the original source files of my website, and a zipped file of the website is included as well.

Thank you.

Maruf, The Great!

(MADE BY MARUF RAHMAN, FOR NPOWER CANADA)

Originally, the website includes a City Skyline MP4 file as a background, along with the use of Custom Fonts, and a small MP3 file as Background Music.

However, I assume that Github's online hosting does not use or allow the use of embedded audio and video, so these do not run when hosted through Github.

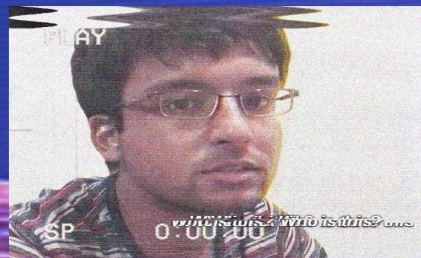

If you click on the “About Me” in the Navigation bar, it leads to a another page, where the user has to choose between two Picture Links. Each link leads to a different website. For some reason on Github, the picture links do not load, but the link works as intended.

This is one of the pages the last page can lead to. It is a Gif file but is tiled, and is looping.

KNOW MORE ABOUT MARUF RAHMAN!

Hi!, my name is Maruf Rahman. I have many different things that makes me unique, and I guess there would not be enough space or time for me to tell you my life story, so heres a summary: I've lived half my life in Canada and the other half of my life out in Bangladesh. I've studied Economics and Finance in North South University.

I have a passion for both Business and Technology. I've managed a small import and wholesale business of computers, servers and other electronics, back home and for the short period that I managed it, it went quite well.

On the personal side of things, I personally love reading novels, building computers, and catching up on the news on the latest cars and technology. I have a soft spot in my heart for video games, and I'm currently on a Civilization 4 campaign.

I also love learning about new things. Every few days I go on wikipedia for a few hours to read upon something new. A few days ago I was obsessed

This is one of the other pages the last page can lead to. It is a bit basic, however I plan to change the page up, and work on it as time progresses. I've used a Large Gif file, stretched out a bit, to give it that low resolution 80's aesthetic.

Current Work

My current Mining computer, searching for dem Ethers

title = "Ethereum"

So far my current obsession is Crypto-currencies. Mainly Ethereum. After reading about Crypto Currencies over the summer, I've decided to learn up on Mining computers. These computers would work through a lot of code, and if they are able to crack them, they gain a currency called ETH. Previously, I had a 5 card mining system, however due to a dead power supply, I am now temporarily down to a 2 Card system. (Pictured)

One other thing I also do is I try to work on my own vehicles. Currently I can only do as much as Break Pad's, Rotors' And I have done Head Gaskets before as well.

At the Age of 11, I have also managed to get 100 pokemon in Pokemon Gold as well.

At the start of NPower, I have created a C# program detailing the weights of the human body on different planets. And also this website as well!

The Current work page. Again it is a bit bare, and I will work on improving the page as I learn more about HTML. For some reason, this page does not show up on Github at all.

CONTACT ME, PLEASE

Your Name:

Your Email:

Send me a message, if you want. Or not.
It's a textbox not your teacher.

eMail Us

The Contact me page, has text boxes for your email, name, and your message. I don't know how to connect this to a Email service yet on the backend, I do hope to do this in the near future. The background is a gif file.

Fortunately, this website shows up in Github as intended.

Thank you.